Fred:

Re the attached, Red told me that he believed that Admiral Taylor missed the point. The draft policy guide is meant to deal exclusively with employees acting in a private, unofficial capacity. It is not meant to govern speeches at War Colleges, etc.

Red asked me to try to do an editing job in advance of another try at clearing this with Admiral Taylor before publication. I did not, however, feel there was much I could do and I know how deeply involved you have been with all of this. Sorry to have left the unfinished business for you but that's what I chose to do.
